Talks and Panels

Suits & Spooks is not your typical InfoSec conference. In fact, it was designed to be an "anti-conference" where the attendees and speakers engage in discussion and debate of cyber/physical security challenges over the course of two days.

At Suits & Spooks DC, over 30 world-class speakers will describe their vision of future threats and leading edge companies will exhibit novel solutions.

Our attendees come from the public and private sectors of U.S. and allied countries, and the networking is second to none.

Over 30 Speakers

In addition to hearing over 30 speakers give pressentations related to cyber, physical, and national security issues, all attendees will receive a free pass to tour the exhibits at the International Spy Museum at the end of day two.

Attendees will also receive one signed copy of each of Jack Carr's thrillers "The Terminal List" and "True Believer".

"Absolutely awesome! So powerful, so pulse-pounding, so well-written—rarely do you read a debut novel this damn good. I have been telling everyone I know to drop everything and get this book."
—Brad Thor, #1 New York Times bestselling author of Spymaster
